

SS10 will be vintage-inspired at TAGZ

Dubai, 18 February 2010 – Spring-Summer 2010 collections bring an extra touch of vintage sophistication to TAGZ in Dubai, as the luxury leather goods boutique announces the latest handbags by designer labels Michael Michael Kors, Le Tanneur, Longchamp, Nannini, Orla Kiely and Jamin Puech.

New collections now available at the boutique mark the unmissable rise of classic retro accessories in stylish neutrals combined with renowned designers' signature craftsmanship for the spring-summer of 2010.

- Michael Michael Kors revisits La Dolce Vita

For SS10, Michael Michael Kors' luxed-up handbags, shoes and small leather goods are directly inspired by the 60s polished yet sporty sophistication. Shimmering metallic accents of gold and gunmetal, in shiny leather revamp the iconic Grommet shoulder bag. Polished gold and silver hardware give a graphic edge to the collection.

- Less is more for Le Tanneur

Le Tanneur interprets its classic 'Vicky' handbag in smooth white leather, responding to a new desire for simple, soft materials, enhanced with luxurious golden accessories. As urban elegance meets natural sophistication, less is definitely more.

- Essentials are a delight for Longchamp

Longchamp's timeless line for active women, 'Roseau', characterized by a smooth finish split hide leather and bamboo jewel fixture, is the perfect balance between luxury, contemporary design and elegance. For SS10, 'Roseau' will be offered at TAGZ in a refined palette of neutral beige and flesh tones while keeping a focus on comfort and quality. As such, it remains the ideal solution for busy women who don't want to compromise on their style.
